CURRENCY DEPARTMENT

Project Manager – Process Transformation (Contractual – 3 years)

CORE FUNCTIONS:

- The Process Transformation Project Manager will design and implement a comprehensive framework to transform the Central Bank's cash center operations into a highly automated environment. This will include working alongside automation vendors to fully scope, design, and implement highly automated cash handling and note processing solutions and the workflow required to achieve efficient outcomes.
- Sound functional procedures and high-level policy documents support operational efficiencies in a highly-automated cash environment. The Process Transformation Project Manager will compile, test, and implement sound procedures, benchmarked against international standards, to promote a safe and secure environment and efficient core workflows.
- Coordinate cash center staff training with various automation vendor programmes to align staff's technical competencies and safety knowledge with the requirements of a highly automated logistics facility. These outcomes are to be supported by a robust governance framework.

EDUCATION & EXPERIENCE REQUIREMENTS:

- Master's degree in productions & operations management, project management, or equivalent qualification from a recognized tertiary institution.
- A minimum of five (5) years of related experience at the managerial level.
- Project Management Professional (PMP) designation is a plus.
- Good knowledge of global currency production techniques and processing.
- Working knowledge of spreadsheet applications.
- Strong technical knowledge in areas relevant to the job, such as IT systems, software applications, hardware components, data analysis tools, or automation solutions.
- Demonstrated experience working with and troubleshooting technical systems or processes.
